

MEDIA RELEASE
BARRISTERS & BUCANEERS

Ahoy there me hearties! Only one week to go before the curtain is raised on Brisbane Family Law Centre's (BFLC) 2011 pirate pantomime. Rehearsals are going well as everything falls into place for Peter Pan the Pirate Panto!

As with last year's production, it's a chance to see some prominent Brisbane family law barristers (and even some judges this time around) swap their wigs and robes for, well, other very different wigs and robes, as they take to the stage at the Princess Theatre, Woolloongabba at 7 pm on Saturday 10 December 2011 for a one night only performance.

Members of the Queensland Bar include Jennifer McArdle, John Selfridge, Robin Slade-Jones and Neil McGregor.

It's all for a good cause though. BFLC is again supporting the great work undertaken by SANDBAG (Sandgate and Bracken Ridge Action Group), a Not for Profit Community Organisation. SANDBAG, amongst many other things, offers counselling free of charge to families affected by Domestic Violence. In fact the $9,000 raised at last year's event was used to employ an additional part-time counsellor to assist such families.

Local businesses and other organizations associated with family law have been approached to sponsor the event and there will be plenty of raffle prizes to win throughout the night thanks to their generosity.
